

Let's Celebrate
And Support
All Those Who Care.

Photograph by Susan Lapides

Grandparents caring for grandchildren, neighbors providing for neighbors, sons and daughters supporting their aging parents, spouses helping each other—there is a circle of caring in our homes and communities that is precious and priceless. There is also support for those who find themselves as caregivers, no matter what their age or situation. To find out more, call

A public service message from this publication and the U.S. Administration on Aging.